

Scalp report and results

by Douglas Barry

In the dry conditions that prevailed on the night, 3ROC's Hugh McLindon showed a clean pair of heels to the large entry on the Scalp on Bloomsday - Wednesday 16th June 1999. The pony tailed McLindon pulled out a clear 100 metre lead over Australian visitor John Toomey who is visiting Ireland for a major orienteering event - the Shamrock O Ringen.

Toomey - there must be a touch of the Celt there! - and the rest of the 120 strong field chased McLindon up and down this attractive course which takes in the old Ballycorus lead mines chimney and the summit of Katty Gollogher (Carrickgollogan) with its views over Killiney Bay and Bray Head. Behind them, Brendan O'Brien and the improving Eoin Keith had a close battle with Wicklow Way record holder Simon Walters, Alan Cox, and rock climber Finbarr Desmond.

Although he missed Wally Young's 15 year old record of 22.58 by 21 seconds, McLindon had the satisfaction of winning his first race of 1999 with Toomey second and Brendan O'Brien third. In the women's race, Raheny's Laura McGinley pulled out a clear lead up the climb from Una May, but the orienteer closed her down on the descent to reduce McGinley's winning margin to 38 seconds. Joan Flanagan took third a similar distance back.

Jane Watt warmed up in fine style for her attempt on the long distance route from Bray Head in Wicklow to Bray Head in Kerry. The Crusaders runner won the veteran women's race with a Leaving Cert battered Amanda Hanly taking the Junior. In the mens, Henny Brandsma had recovered from his privations on Glencree three days earlier to win the over 40 category, while Calvin Torrans continued his winning ways in the over 50 class. David Simpson won the Juniors.
